Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1, 2, 5-7, and 11-14 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Weingarten (US 6,078,579).

Regarding claims 1 and 11, Weingarten teaches establishing a connection across a first communication network that carries audio signals (conventional telephone lines, fig. 4 element 80, col. 7 lines 25-31), encoding a computer network address for a second network different from the first network into an encoded network address and sending the encoded network address across the first network (IP address, fig. 4 element 82, col. 7 lines 25-31), and using the network address that is sent over the first network to establish a network connection on said second network (fig. 4 box 76, 78, col. 7 lines 32-42).

Regarding claim 2, the first network is a voice network (fig. 4 element 80, conventional telephone lines, col. 7 line 28).

Regarding claims 5 and 6, the second network comprises the Internet (fig. 4 elements 76, 78).

Regarding claim 7, it is inherent that a computer address contains a port address.

Regarding claim 12, in addition to the limitations listed in claims 1 and 11, the step of translating the encoded network address (fig. 4 element 82) to a computer address is performed by (fig. 4 box 74).

Regarding claims 13 and 14, obtain a computer network address / IP address for a computer network (fig. 4 box 74, col. 7 lines 25 - 31), send the computer network address across a second network that is different from the computer network (IP address, fig. 4 element 82, col. 7 lines 25-31), and receive a network connection request to establish a network connection across the computer network and using the computer network address to establish the network connection (fig. 4 box 76, 78, col. 7 lines 32-42).

Regarding claim 30, in addition to the limitations listed in claims 13 and 14, a storage medium (fig. 4 box 74, instructions contained within the micro-controller).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 15-29 are allowed.

4. Claims 3-4 and 8-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Regarding claims 3-4, nothing the prior art teaches or fairly suggests encoding the network address using dual tone multi-frequency signals nor appending the encoded network address to the telephone network signaling data in combination with the other limitations of the claims.

Regarding claim 8, nothing the prior art teaches or fairly suggests sending audio through the voice network before sending audio through the computer network in combination with the other limitations of the claims. Regarding claims 9-10, 15, and 17, nothing the prior art teaches or fairly suggests encryption in combination with the other limitations of the claim. Regarding claims 18, 23, and 24, nothing in the prior art teaches or fairly suggests the step of verifying, in combination with the other limitations listed in the claims. Regarding claims 25, 26, and 29, nothing in the prior art teaches or fairly suggests a crossbar switch, in combination with the other limitations listed in the claim.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2, 5-7, and 11-14 and 30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The examiner agrees with the applicant that the amended claims 1, 11-14 have overcome the teaching of Cruickshank (US 6,389,005). However, the examiner contends that the limitations found in the amended claims are taught in Weingarten. Regarding independent claims 18, 23-26, and 29, the examiner agrees with the applicant that the claims are patentable over the referenced prior art.
